A REVELATION ABOUT KILBAIN.
Rumors that Kilrain had been suffering from disease had been freely circulated, and from disease had been freely circulated, and in order to satisfy himself whether this was true or not, the janitor watched Kilrain. He was evidently suffering great physical pain, and appeared to walk with difficulty. The janitor was finally convinced that not only were the reports true, but that Kilrain had recently had a surgical operation performed.

Prof. Robinson in charge of the pupils of the Southern Athletic Club, who witnessed the fight, stated openly on the train while returning, that the fight was a colossal fake from beginning to end, and that Sullivan and Kiirain was both parties to it. This explains Sullivan's magnanimity toward Kiirain when he had him at his mercy several times during the fight, when he could easily have knocked him out. The Professor knows all about sparring and has seen a number of prine-fights, and is competent to judge. His assertions are made openly to members of the club and have evoked no little comment. Some allege that he is mistaken for too many heavy blows were struck and the principals received too much punishment.

press the Sullivan-Kiirain prize fight served but to lend éciat to as flagrant a violation of law and order as was ever committed. If Gov. Lowery, after his military flasco, can gather his wits now and issue a requisition upon the Governor of the State where Sullivan and Kiirain and their backers may be found, he may have them apprehended and brought to Mississippl, to be punished according to law, the example he shall then set will do more to deter a recurrence of yesterday's lawlessness than the combined use of all the armies of Louisiana and Mississippl, which yesterday added an element of supreme ridicule to the arrant blunder of the funny pair of Governors."

Gov. Lowery of Mississippl this morning issued a proclamation, and states that he will extradite all the participants in the fight, and especially Sullivan, Kilrain and seconds.

KILRAIN DEPARTS. Kilrain arose this morning to dress and take a bath in the swimming tank, but was not permitted to do so. At an early hour not permitted to do so. At an early hour the guests of the club gathered together their wardrobe, and commenced packing up, and at 7:15 o'clock Kiirain, Mitchell, Murphy, Pony More and Dr. Dougherty left in carriages for the Texas Pacific depot and, boarding the train, left for the North via Texas, in order to avoid going back through Mississippi, where it was feared they would be arrested. Mr. Stavenson, Klirain's backer, 'left the city yestereday afternoon via the Queen and Orescent line for his home, Klirain was not suffering the least inconvenience from the body blows in he had received, and was sounded by Dr. Dougherty, who tapped him in the ribs and schest with his fingers without causing Klirain much pain.

SULLIVAN CELEBRATES.

John L. Sullivan, William Muldoon and John L.

John L. Sullivan, William Muldoon and Mike Cleary are still in the city and are at their old quarters on Rampart street. At about 9:30 o'clock Sullivan was presented with a large wreath of flowers, representing a horseshoe. Sullivan acknowledged the gift in a very brief speech. Sullivan returned to his room at about 9:45 o'clock. He was then somewhat under the influence of liquor, and four policemen stood at the corner in case he committed any overt act. Chief of Police Hennessy and John Fitzpatrick, who was referee in the fight, visited him, but Fitzpatrick only remained a few moments. It is said that Sullivan and Cleary will leave the city tomorrow morning, on the steamship Hudson, for New York. about 9:30 o'clock Sullivan was presented Dance. Coming down to the stand Sorrento had increased his lead to two lengths, with Kern next, a head before Salvator, with Long Dance two lengths off leading the rest. Going around the lower turn the field closed on Sorrento, and at the quarter post he was but a neck in the van, with Kern and Salvator next. As they ran up the back stretch they were all bunched beautifully. As they neared

A MONTH-AN ELEGANT 6- THIS TIME IT IS PLAYED ON A WOMAN.

> And $1500 Worth of Diamonds are Extorted from Her-Frank M. Harris and His Supposed Wife Arrested for the Crime.

Chief of Police Burns yesterday made two very important arrests, and put matters in such shape that it is more than probable that a couple of the shrewdest all-round crooks and confidence people that ever worked the city will take a trip over the bay for a long stay at the State's expense at Sar Monday evening George Miller, a man of large wealth and an extensive man of large wealth and an extensive property-owner in both Los Angeles and Kansas City, came to the station to see the Chief. He was accompanied by his wife, a pleasant-looking woman aged about 43 years, whom, he said, had been robbed of about $1500 worth of diamonds, and he wanted the Chief's essistance in getting the iswels back. of diamonds, and he wanted the Chief's assistance in getting the jewels back. Mrs. Miller appeared to be greatly agitated over the affair, but finally quieted down and told her story, which was, in substance, as follows: She said that she had been rooming at the corner of Fort and Fifth strsets for the past three or four months, she and her husband getting along very nicely. About a month or so a man named Frank M. Harris, accompanied by his wife, also took rooms companied by his wife, also took rooms in the house. Harris was very agreeable and they soon got to be good friends. Last Saturday evening she went with Harris to the Ramona, at the corner of Third and Spring streets, where he had engaged room, No. 51. where he had engaged room No. 51. She did not know how she came to go with Harris to the place, but as she had drank a glass of beer she supposed that she must have been drugged. At any rate she went with him, and they

any rate she went with him, and they went into the room together, when he locked the door. Matters were in a rather compromising position, when Harris suddenly unlocked the door and admitted his wife. Mrs. Harris rushed into the room in a great rage, apparently, and presented a big pistol at Mrs. Miller's head, saying that she must pay $2500 at once or there would be trouble. She began to plead and beg, saying that she did not have so much money, and could not get it, without letting her husband know about it. At this point Harris threw off all concealment, and boldly joined with his wife in demanding the money, and that it be paid at once. Finally, after a good deal of talk, she succeeded in effecting a compromise with the pair by turning over her diamonds, a crescent worth $1000. a cluster ring valued at $300. and a solitaire at $200, making $1500 in all. She stipulated, however, that she should be allowed to redeem her jewelry by giving a mortgage to some property she owned on Bovie Heichts. jeweiry by giving a mortgage to some property she owned on Boyle Heights. She was then allowed to go home, and, after thinking the whole matter over, she concluded to confide in her hus-band, make a clean breast of the whole affair, and try and recover her jewelry, and at the same time have the black-mailers arrested. They had then demailers arrested. They had then de

This much being settled, the next thing to do was to verify the story. Inquiry showed that Harris had rented rooms Nos. 51 and 52 at the Ramona for Saturday and Saturday night, paying for the same, and the supposition is that he had his wife concealed in one of the rooms when he inveigled Mrs. t. was closely questioned, and, seeing that the "victim" had squealed, and that they were fairly trapped, she made a clean confession, saying that the jewels were in her room, and that she would give them up. Jennings was then sent with Mrs. Harris to her room when she turned over the discount of the control room, when she turned over the dia-monds, and they were brought to the station and given in charge of the

Mrs. Miller then swore to a complaint charging Harris and his wife with robbery, and they were taken before Justice Savage, who placed the under $2500 bail each, the examination under $2500 bail each, the examination being set for Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Neither Harris nor his wife appeared to be greatly worried over the affair, saying that they could easily give bail, and they left the courtroom in charge of a deputy constable for that purpose. It is presumed that they were successful, as they did not turn up at the jail or City Prison. Harris intimated to one of the officers that his relations with Mrs. Miller that his relations with Mrs. Miller were such that she dared not prosecute him, and that he would get out of the scrape all right.

Frank Harris is a tough citizen, and the police say that he has been guilty of several crimes that should have landed him in San Quentin. He has politics, and was for a time barkeeper for Fancher, and afterward applied for a license for Fancher's saloon after the place had been closed by the Police Commissioners. A former mistress of his, known by the expressive, if not elegant, name of "Spanish Mary," who did four years' service in San Quentin for robbing a man, but who was released about a year ago, always insisted that she was sacrificed by Harris to save himself.

reputation. Her former husband, Ed Mays, was sent to San Quentin for rape on the person of a step-sister, Miss Tipton. This was always regarded as a scheme on the part of the women to get rid of Mays, for very soon after he was locked up both of them entered on a life of shame, whereupon the facts were brought to the attention of the Governor, who pardboned Mays. The woman, however, got a divorce on the ground that her husband was a convict, and afterward took up with Harris.

Inquiry at the lodging-house where the parties live failed to bring out any new facts. Neither Mrs. Harvey nor her mother knew anything about the facts—at least they said they did not. The parties roomed there, but they knew nothing for or against them. They naid their rent, as did the other tions.

They paid their rent, as did the other rs, and there was nothing about them to call for any special attention Last night, however, about 8 o'clock a telephone was received from the house asking that an officer be sent at once, as Miller and Harris were having a fight. Officer Leverich was sent out, but when he arrived at the place both parties had retired to their rooms. Both of the men had been drinking and there had been a fight, in which Miller had got a black eye, when he retired. Miller was swearing around the house, threatening to kill Harris, but up to the hour of going to press there had been no bloodshed. The police, however, kept a watch on the house to prevent trouble.

As the time for the trial of Williams, he smooth young swindler and forger of many aliases, approaches, much interest is felt in what he will do, or rather what sort of a defense his lawyers will make for him. It was at first believed that in case Gorham did not come to his relief he would plead guilty, but this theory has been knocked out by the strong array of legal talent that he has retained. and the question now is who is putting up the necessary wealth? An auto-graph letter has been received in this city from Arthur Gorham, in which he city from Artiur Gornain, in which he positively refuses to do anything for Williams, saying that he has forfeited all claims on him. On the other hand, some insist that Gorham is helping Williams under cover, and that he is even now in San Prancisco. At any rate, everyone connected with the case is keeping very quiet, and hevend case is keeping very quiet, and beyond the statement by one of the attorneys that a great deal will be brought out at the trial that is not now thought of, nothing can be learned.

BANTA'S WILL.

ARGUMENTS IN THE LONG-DRAWN CASE CONCLUDED,

Jury-One of the Most Notable Trials in the Jurisprudence of Los Angeles County.

The last scene in the Banta will case took place yesterday before Judge Clark, in Department No. 2 of the Superior Court. This case has become one of the notable ones in the history of the jurisprudence of the ducted beneath the cable tracks on county. It has lasted a longer time First street at San Pedro. The water and more witnesses have been exin the big ditch has been shut off till amined in it than in any other case he gets through, and irrigators depend- tried in the county, perhaps with the exception of the Perkins-Baldwin get along for a week without their usual supply of water. The cable comprominent citizens of Pasadena have contributed to swell a mass of testimony that will make a book of several thousand pages, and there are deposi-tions ad libitum. The fight by oppos-ing counsel has been a stubborn one, and every inch of the ground has been fought over desperately. There has probably never been a case in the county where the cross-examinations have been so minute and searching. The case has been handled on both liave been so minute and searching. The case has been handled on both sides with much ability, and when the jury finally retired at 6 o'clock in the afternoon, opinion was about equally divided as to the result.

Mr. Metcalf made an argument of an hour and ten minutes in the morning, reviewing, the testimony briefly and putfing in a strong plea for Mrs. Banta and against admitting the will to probate. He used very plain terms in speaking of William Pierce, the son-inlaw, whom he scathingly denounced as a man who had deliberately schemed to separate Isaac Banta and his wife, and obtain control of the estate. That he had not only done that, but had obtained such influence over the old man by poisoning his mind against his wife and plying him with liquor and laudanum that he fell an easy prey to bit seems to scheme. He charged Pierce with being the cause of the trouble between Isaac Banta and his wife, and the will so obtained, should stand in any court of justice, and particularly when by the terms of the instruments Pierce is made the sole manager of the estate without bond or security of any kind that he will honestly perform the trusts imposed on him.

He made one of the most eloquent speeches of his life and electrified the Court, jury and spectators. Could the case have been submitted to the jury at the conclusion of his argument there is scarcely a doubt as to what the result would have been. Some of his flights of eloquence, as he warmed to the topic under discussion, were superb, and during the entire time that he spoke every person in the courtroom spoke every person in the courtroom was under the magic of his voice. A number of attorneys were present to hear him, and when he had finished they said that it was one of the great-they said that it was one of the greatest arguments ever delivered at the Los Angeles bar.

He deduced from the testimony an entirely different motive in Mr. and Mrs. Pierce's actions than that attributed to them by the prosecution. Into the prosecution, Into the prosecution of the control of the creation of the deed of trust and will. He argued that she so the creation of the deed of trust and will. He argued that she so treated him in his old age that he was forced from his home and had no place to go, except to his daughter and sonin-law. He quoted Mrs. Banta's own in-law. He quoted Mrs. Banta's own testimony in support of his position, and drew such a picture of old man Banta, desolate and driven from his home, and the kindness of his daughter, that it drew tears to the eyes of many in the courtroom. He charged that Mrs. Banta was a cold and selish woman, who for many years had shown a shocking lack of the maternal instinct in her treatment of Mrs. Pierce; that her only idea, as evidenced by her actions for years, had been to by her actions for years, had been to obtain possession of the money accumulated by her husband.

He claimed that the disposition of his property made by Isaac Banta was in strict accordance with his wishes when his mind was clear and he knew what he was doing; that he instructed the attorneys who drew the papers that he wanted them drawn to stick. At that time he knew Mrs. Banta was preparing the proceedings for a divorce, and he wanted to leave his property for his children and their children. He had provided for Mrs. Banta. In the deed of separation, by which the divorce proceedings were afterward dismissed, over her own signature and in her own language, she expressed herself as perfectly satisfied with the deed of trust which she now says was fraudulently procured.

He claimed that not one single bit of evidence, had been introduced that evidence had been introduced that showed William Pierce to have attempted in any way to coerce the old man into making the deed of trust, but that, on the contrary, the evidence showed that he and his wife had both evidenced to have Mr. Beach of the contrary. endeavored to have Mr. Banta return to his home, and were loath to take him in at the Crown Villa; and did so only when he had gone home and returned the next day weeping, after Mrs. Banta had told him he had better go and read the deed of separation, and his daughter Mattie had said to the old man that she would rather see her old man that she would rather see her dog than him.

When Mr. White had concluded his argument a recess of five minutes was taken, and then Judge Anderson spoke for two hours, making the concluding argument for the contestants. He endeavored to combat the force of the effect of the preceding speech in frequents as are and for such a cause, and for the biting allusions had made about Mrs. Banta, whom he characterized as a kindhearted, gentle old lady, whose only thought was her children. He made a strong point against the lack of any bond or security being required of the tatter. The Court then delivered the charge to the jury. It was very long, and the chief points were a clear statement of the issues and definitions of the elements necessary to constitute undue influence. The issues for the jury to determine were whether Isaac Banta at the time he signed the will was of sound or unsound mind; whether or not he was induced to sign the will through the undue influence of William Pierce, and his wife; and whether or not the was induced to sign the will through the undue influence of William Pierce and his wife; and whether or not the signature of Mr. Banta was procured through fraud practiced by William and Lucy Pierce.

After the instructions were concluded the jury went to its room.

The board requested the secretary to confer with the officials of the road and impresen upon their minds the necessity of twing up to their contract.

President Mesmer took the floor and presented his idea of utilizing the water of the Los Angeles River on the hillside and using the same for motive power, domestic use, and for the binds and using the same for motive power, domestic use, and for the binds and using the same for motive power, domestic use, and for the binds and using the same for motive power, domestic use, and for the binds and using the same for motive power, domestic use, and for the binds and using the same for motive power, domestic use, and for the peneture of the Los Angeles River on the hillside and using the dog than him.

and asked for instructions in regard to the third issue, as to whether or not Mr. Banta's signature was procured through fraud. The Court gave the same instructions as before. The attorneys remained at the courtroom until 10 o'clock, and there being no signs of an agreement, every body went home and left the jury to wrestle with the case during the night.

SANTA MONICA.

A Dummy Railroad to be Con-structed on the Beach. SANTA MONICA, July 9.-[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Abbot Kinney, Frank Ellis and a syndicate of capitalists have a proposition on foot that they say they intend to put through at once. It is to build a dummy road from the big pier to Santa Monica Cañon, the line to run on the sands as close up to the bluff as is possible, and it is figured on as being a good venture, on account of the fact that there are thousands who would visit the cañon and inspect its beauties if there were any pleasant and cheap way of reaching it. The enterprise will mean an outlay of $18,000, which amount it is figured will pay for the equipment as well as the building of the road. A right of way is first to be obtained from Jones and Baker, who own all of the land along the pro-

"The book claims God as its author, "The book claims God as its author, yet all its pages were written by human hands and bear the significant marks by different writers. The first of these books bears a date of 1500 years B.C., and the last 100 years A.D. Sixteen hundred years were therefore required to complete this entire work of divine revelation. From various allusions made in the writings of Ignatius, Clement of Alexandria and others, we may justly infer that before the middle of the third century the New Testament Scriptures were known generally by the were known generally by the Christians in a collected form, and reverenced as the inspired word of God. We must discover the books to be in harmony with each other, that their statements are creditable, and that all the circumstances. statements are creditable, and that all the circumstances—the style of the writers, allusions to places—are in keeping with the conclusions to which the external evidence also leads us. The devout student pursuing such methods must reach the conclusion that the Bible is entitled to that implicit reverence which it resily demands, as the only appointed canon of spiritual and religious duty, while it even stands in his estimation as nothing less than the inspired revelation from God."

They have a motto inscribed upon their hearts as well as their banners that solves the problem. That motto is 'Excelsior.' CHICAGO is now a good deal bigger than Los Angeles. Since the recent annexations it covers an area of 170 re miles, much of which is farming land, which will probably remain h for many years.

CHICAGO, with her annexed suburbs, is now exactly twenty-four miles in length from north to south, and fourin width. She illustrates as as any city upon the continent how we Americans do grow.

THE police department has interfered with the operations of the inmates of Alameda street cribs, only to turn the women on the streets in droves as solicitors. The new state of things is far worse than the old, and should be brought to a termination.

THE meeting of the Irish National League was to have been held in New York yesterday, but was postponed on account of the Cronin affair. That was not the reason given, but it was the real reason, all the same. A prominent leaguer, in conversation with a New York Times reporter, exder would set back the cause of Ireland

Our climate will last all the

would not be tolerated for a week even in a boss-ridden United States municipality. Blanco was the biggest boss that South America ever saw, but his star has set at last. Since 1870 this dictator held Veneuela in his power, and bled it freely. He carried out his plans on a scale that threw even Boss Tweed into the shade. Blanco was originally of some service to his country, but his later actions founded on those deeds, wiped out any gratitude his country may have owed nim. The Constitution of Venezuela forbids immediate reëlection to the Presidential office, or Blanco would have been perpetual President for the past twenty years. It does, however, permit reëlection after a term served by another candidate, and the boss, by the liberal use of money, managed to keep one of his men in when he was not in the Presidential chair himself. Paris on a mission as Envoy Extraordinary of his country to all the European powers, and set up a magnificent establishment there, where his daughter had married the young Duc de Morny, the wildest aristocrat of his generation. He left in the Presidential chair Dr. Rojas-Paul, a citizen who had held many high offices. and was regarded as clean, but Blanco, having complete control of the ma chine, thought he was all right. Dr. Paul, however, developed considerable backbone. Realizing, after his elec tion, that he had been made a tool of, he determined to rebel. He was not long without an occasion. Blanco had been selling concessions in Europe pocketing the proceeds and writing to the President and Congress to see the concessions carried out. The people, tiring of heavy taxes, rebelled, and the students in the university "manifested" against the dictator, whereupon he telegraphed from Paris to have the ringleaders arrested and shot.

Instead of doing this, President Paul began his rebellion by turning out several of the machine men. Pub lic opinion became, at the same time. greatly excited against Blanco, by the report that, having been self-empowered, before leaving for Europe, to purchase for Venezuela a first-class cruiser for $750,000, he had instead bought from an English company a econd-hand steamer, paying therefor ncluding the refitting, only $148,000, and pocketing the difference. Besides this, he sold out to a French syndicate banking privileges in Venezuela, thus destroying existing banks. Just then Paul resigned, rather than carry out the policy of the Blanco faction. The people then arose and required the President to remain in power. Meetings were held, and for the first time nounced. The Venezuela Congress was compelled to enact a measure which Blanco had bitterly opposed—the rati-fication of the treaty with the United States for the reopening of claims of American citizens against Venezuela, for losses sustained in the revolution by which the Blanco faction had come

The boss will not dare to return to Venezuela. His jig is up. Freuch and English speculators, who hoped to get possession of the country, are dispinted, but Americans will rejoice and be encouraged to believe that, if Venezuela can get rid of such a big political boss within twenty years, we nay be able to dispose of most of ours pefore the end of the century-if they don't die in the meantime.

POSTAL SVAINGS BANKS.

One of the directions in which our somewhat more paternal character is sums might be deposited, with absolute security, at any postoffice. This is a want which can better be supplied by a government than in any other

Postal savings banks are conducted with great success in Great Britain and her colonies, also in other European countries and even in Japan The cost of administration of the British Postal Savings banks, for the pas twenty years, has been a trifle under the half of one per cent per annum on the aggregate of deposits held by it. Great Britain loans its money out to municipalities. The United States could loan the money to States, and charge enough to reimburse itself. There is no reason to doubt that the system would be as successful here a it is in Great Britain, where the aggregate deposits have risen from $8,000,000 in 1862 to $250,000,000 in 1885. The interest paid to deposit-ors there is two and a half per cent.

It is only the government that can extend the benefits of saving banks to the whole people. At present small savings cannot be deposited except at the counter of a savings bank, which can only exist in a comparatively densely settled neighborhood. Then again, it is only the government that can furnish absolute security, which, in the case of these small savings, is of greater importance than a high rate of nterest. telegraph or not, we ought to have postal savings banks, so that the poor nay have a chance to deposit their small savings in equal security to that which is afforded to those who are so fortunate as to be able to purchase

United States bonds. THE REPUBLIC.

The changes in the legal flag of the United States took effect on the 4th of July, and it now numbers forty-two stars, but the old flags will be used very generally, being replaced by the new only as they are worn out. What monarch would not be proud of a territory like that of the United States, rich in its unbounded resources vast in its extent, limited only by the seas, and filled with a peaceful, indus-trious, intelligent and law-abiding peo-

THE DOWNFALL OF A BIG BOSS.

Guzman Blanco of Venezuela, whose deposition was recently announced, was a real political "boss," a la Buckley, only more so, a degree of despotism ley, only more so, a degree of despotism being possible in South America that being possible in South America that land of sovereigns, whose scepter is the free ballot, whose power is the will of a liberty-loving people. The British lion may roar, and all the thrones of the Old World let fly their arrows, but the American eagle will forever float above them, his pinions strong and swift, bearing him ever onward and upward through the blue empyrean, beyond the reach of his foes.

SAN DIEGO county promises to go extensively into the culture of tobacco. The San Diegan announces that quite a number of ranchers are trying their hand at tobacco culture Vista, where there are said to be 5000 acres adapted to the plant. A local cigar manufacturer told the San Diegan that the consumption of tobacco in that city is not less than $1000 a day, most of which money is sent away from home. That would be Two years ago Blanco went to a very large sum to save, in the course of a year. There is no doubt that tobacco will do well in many sections of Southern California. In the garden of an attaché of THE TIMES are plants, growing thriftily, from seeds of Persian tobacco, received from the United States Consul at Teheran, through the Agricultural Department, and planted eighteen months ago. The chief difficulty in the enterprise lies in the curing, failure in which department has nterfered with the success of previous efforts in that line in California.

> COL. GEORGE E. WARING, JR., of Newport, a widely-known sanitary engineer, but neither a senationalist or an alarmist, told the American Medical Association, in a paper which he read before them the other day, that a proper attention to sanitary conditions yould reduce the death rate in this country from eighteen per thousand, which is the figure at present, to twelve per thousand. This would mean, as he went on to show, the saving every year, on the basis of the present population, not fewer than 365,000 lives which are now sacrificed to neglected filth, with its attendant contamination of the soil on which we live, of the air we breathe, of the food we eat and of the water we drink. This is a good argument for some effective method for the disposition of our sewage, but not necessarily for an ocean outfall sewer. WASHINGTON is recruiting its police from applicants who have been honorably discharged from the army and navy; an excellent idea, which might with advantage, be adopted in other cities. In Germany, the ranks of employés on railroads, in the postoffice and the police are almost entirely recruited from honorably discharged soldiers. Of course this would not be practicable here to the same extent cause, fortunately, we have no large anding army, bat, as for as practica-e, the preference in such positions ble, the preference in such positions should be given to these men, not only to their own advantage, but also to that of their employers, who would profit by their habits of discipline order and obedience.

In discussing the sewage question we should not lose sight of the projec of planting a eucalyptus forest, or land fertilized by the sewage. There is great value in this suggestion. The gum tree revels in rich, moist soil stretching its sponge-like roots to great distances, and growing with immense rapidity, while, at the same time acting as a preventer of malaria. Then, again, the profit is large. Without any attention and trimmed every four or five years, such a grove would net, at the present price of fire Government might safely assume a the price at which a large tract of suitable land could be purchased. The in the encouragement of thrift among city could not make a better investment.

To AN Indianapolis candidate for office, who applied personally to him a few days ago, the President is said to

The complaint that too many appoint ments are made from my own city is not to be ignored. Whether the charge is true or not, it is certainly made, and my friends there will doubtless be considerate enough

THE late encounter furnished retty good example of the demoralizing character of the prize ring. During the fight Sullivan jumped on Kilrain's prostrate form with both feet, and after the fight was over Kilrain claimed that he had been drugged.

AMUSEMENTS.

THATCHER, PRIMROSE & WEST-A goo show, even if it be a minstrel show, will draw a good house in this city. The Grand Opera-house was crowded last night cially in family circle and gallery here every seat was taken. The galler and parquet were comfortably filled. The troupe is one of the strongest that has ever visited the city, and yet one cannot escape the betiefits of saving banks of the people. At present small cannot be deposited except at ter of a savings bank, which by exist in a comparatively settled neighborhood. Then, it is only the government that hish absolute security, which ase of these small savings, is of importance than a high rate of the weeks a postal the or not, we ought to have wrings banks, so that the poor we a chance to deposit their vings in equal security to that is afforded to those who are nate as to be able to purchase States bonds.

THE LYCEUM COMPANY. - The next event at the Grand Opera-house, after the minstrels, is the advent of Daniel From minstrels, is the advent of Daniel Frohman's Lyceum Theater, New York, who will begin an engagement of six nights and a Saturday matinée, commencing next Monday evening. Very little need be said of this excellent organization in advance, so great was the impression made by them on their visit here last year. They will present during their engagement, besides the celebrated play of The Wife the two successes of the past senson at the Lyceum Theater. Their repertoire has been arranged as follows: Monday and Thursday evenings Belasco & DeMille's American play, The Wife: Tuesday and Wednesday veenings and Saturday matinée, Sweet Lavender, which ran 250

The report was adopted.

THE RESOLUTIONS. The Committee on Resolutions offered the following:

following:

The Republican party needs no apology from any one for its existence. It has a well-established and acknowledged right to exist, not only in Orange county, but also wherever the American flag floats over a united American people, and it is the highest duty of every Republican to assert and maintain its authority and integrity. The Republican party does not The Republican party does in need from any one a recitation of its glorious achievements in the party are engraved and emblazoned up the pages of its history, and every transpection of the pages of its history, and every transpection of the pages of its history, and every transpection of the pages of th pronounced in song and speech by the most eloquent tongues that have graced the annals of any nation. We are proud to avow ourselves as Republicans, and from the above standpoint we send hearty greetings to every Republican, and cordially invite him to cooperate in our efforts for the organization and maintenance of the Republican party in Orange county. We believe that the beneficent purpose of local, as well as general, government may be safely effected by that party which has maintained the battle for more than a quarter of a century in favor of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, to all the millions of a great nation which, struggling ever in the vanguard of war and peace, has preserved the integrity of the Nation, and which has yielded to no sinister motive and submitted to no dictation save by Him which has yielded to no slnister motive and submitted to no dictation save by Him who holds the destinies of nations in His hand. Now therefore be it Resolved, by the Republicans or Orange county, in convention assembled: First—That the Republicans of the county have never, in any manner, delegated to any person or body the power to compro-mise, control or disintegrate the Republican party

Second—That the perpetuity of the party organization, as well as the sanctioning and preservation of a broad, generous and neighborly feeling in and between all parts of Orange county, is and ought to be of an importance only second to the election of officers of established ability, integrity and stability.

officers of established about, idelity, the lity, and the causes which, by invidious means, seek to set neighbor against neighbor, which tend to invade the sacred right of free and layful assemblage of citizens, and which, if uncurbed, must tend to local discord, factional and sectional suffe, and a petty greed.

Fourth—That we regard the lawful, undictated and deliberate act and conviction as lone.

Fourth—That we regard the lawful, undictated and deliberate act and conviction of every elitzen of every party as alone compatible, in public affairs, with the preservation of a worthy public sentiment or the spirit of free institutions.

Fifth—That the Republican party in this convention assembled demands for its officials men of ability, integrity and fidelity, and will hold its nominees bound by every obligation of honor and of !aw to a strict fulfillment of their duties, without personal or party fear or favor.

Sixth—That we welcome as worthy opponents in the coming contest those gentlemes whom, through established usages, may be put forth by the other great party to oppose us, well knowing that if the public favor their candidates they too will be responsible to a great party, capable to condemn them if they betray their trust.

The functions of the convention are so limited functions of the convention are so limited by the enabling act that many fruitful questions will not be considered. The Prohibitionists have three-fifths of the delegates. Woman suffrage probably has a majority. The Farmers' Alliance and labor organizations can likely muster two-fifths, but no manifestation of political division is yet observed, except Republicans and Democrats, standing 51 to 24, as shown by the caucuses of both parties. Prohibition is already recognized in the Constitution of 1855 by a provision voted on separately, so that particular faction has no quarrel, and 1885 by a provision voted on separately, so that particular faction has no quarrel, and the monopoly feature of the document amply satisfies the grangers.

Be Welcomed SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—[By the Associated Press.] At the annual meeting of the State Board of Trade this afternoon a committee was appointed to forward varie-ties of fruits and wines to the excursion of he Associated Press representatives from the East, which will arrive on the coast July 25th.

A resolution thanking the press of Cali-fornia for assistance in advertising the state was passed.

State was passed.

The report of General Manager Brown called attention to the success of the traveling exhibit of California products now in the East, and stated that the work of the board for the year has been highly satisfactory. The report of the Committee on Advertising recommended that for the traveling exhibit of the State for the next year, three cars instead of one be used.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Too Many Female Teachers. SHARP CRITICISM OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Los Angeles, July 5.—[To the Editor of The Times.] Our Board of Education in its meeting on Monday last, decided to appoint as instructors in the public schools for the coming year 151 teachers, of whom only eight are of the male sex—and to reject the services of men highly qualified and experienced, who have successfully conducted public schools in the past, in this or other States-for lady teachers who do not pretend to greater proficiency or experience, and many of whom have only lately made this State their home.

This action, I assert, is not only an unjust discrimination against male teachers, but extremely impolitic and injurious to the best educational interests of the city; unjust, in that a man who has given his life to the preparation of himself for the duties of a feacher, who is a rate-payer, and one to whom in many cases a wife and family look for support, is barred out of a position he is anxious and thoroughly qualified to fill, to make way for a teacher having fewer responsibilities and no one depending on her for support; impolitic and injurious to our city's interests in that teachers are appointed having but little authority or influence over the older pupils, who are usually weak in mathematics and penmanship(two of the chief branches), and who are not physically strong enough to stand the strain of two sessions a day, consequently involving the city in an extra expenditure of from $15,000 to $20,000 a year to pay for a double set of principals.

It is a well-known fact that the discipline of our public schools in the higher grades is lax; this is not only injurious in itself, but prevents the best results being obtained in any branch of study. I know of many cases where under the present mistaken system adopted by our school directors, parents have been compelled to take their 12 or 14-year-old children from the public schools on account of want of discipline and consequents low progress in deteriors. This action, I assert, is not only an lie schools on account of want of disci-pline and consequent slow progress in education. We have also female prin-cipals of our schools, who, recognizing their weakness in mathematics and penmanship, send their own chil-dren to male instructors for those branches!

In face of these arguments, what reasons do the directors give for their recent action in appointing out of a total of 151 teachers engaged, 143 total of 151 teachers engaged, 143 female instructors?

"Home talent" was their excuse, but an absurd one, for, as Mr. Cox observed, most of the female teachers come to us from other States. I know of no real cause for this remarkable course of action, unless it be a maudlin sentiment in favor of the opposite sex.

I do not speak at all disparagingly of female teachers. I recognize their value and the good results they achieve, and would in all cases prefer achieve, and would in all cases prefer to have teachers of this sex for the younger pupils; but when a man of brains, long experience and wide reputation is set aside for a female teacher, merely as a tribute to her sex, or because she is a so-called "home product," it is carrying gallantry to a ridiculous extreme.

My experience in schools, both in this and European countries, is very considerable; and I long since came to the conclusion that for the older pupils, and especially the boys, a male teacher of mature years, experienced and well qualified for the post, is not only a desideratum but a necessity.

The object in selecting teachers should be to get those most able and possessing the highest qualifications.

The cry of "home talent" may be more injurious to ourselves than to the spiected applicants for pesitions the rejected applicants for positions. Why do some of our leading colleges

The Mono and other Indians that frequented this valley to gather the acorn crop come no more, and have abandoned this lovely vale to howling tourists and professional sight-seers. Through the kindness of the "Chief" I was shown through his small camp of a few huts and perhaps 25 or 30 followers of a tribe that a few years ago numbered more than 1000. Though the acorns have disappeared, the "caches," or store baskets, remain. These baskets are queerly if not wonderfully made—being 12½33 feet, and placed on a platform four feet from provided the supposed errors of the interview of the supposed errors of the supposed errors of the interview of the supp placed on a platform four feet from the ground. The acorns are stored here and preserved during winter for future use, just as the woodpecker drives the acorn in the holes he drills in the pine trees. It is both interesting and amusing to the squaws prepare the frugal of acorn bread. The women meal of acorn bread. The women and children gather the acorns in small baskets—the more worms in the acorns the better they are relished. Each acorn is placed on its particular and hit on the head with pebble, which opens it, sepa pebble, which opens it, sep-arating the bark from the kernel; then the acorn is spread on a rock to dry, after which the women meal is poured in a water-tight basket and the white-heated rocks are dropped in. The water is not permitted to boil, but is hot enough to cook the meal. The stuff is stirred like gruel

From the "Chief" I learned that the last cremation in learned that the last cremation in this valley took place about ten years ago. They believed that the evil spirit would steal the heart of the dead and carry it to hades, so the only way to thwart him was by cremation. In preparing the corpse for cremation the legs were drawn up under the body near to the chin, the arms placed over him, as it in a stooping position, and tied with rawhide. This office was performed by the nearest relative, who would also place the corpse on the funeral pyre and apply the torch. He would also lead off as chief mourner in the howling and dancing around the pyre while burning. It was also their custom to put ashes on their cheeks, and keep up this style of mourning for three or even six months, but "no more, now," said the Chief. They throng the hotels get the best of accommodations and pay the least for them, in proportion to what is charged tourists—$4 a day, which could be had at Los Angeles, equally as good, at $1.50 a day. These free-and-easy visitors are doing more to "kill the valley," or bring it into disrepute as a resort, than even the high-tariff charges at the hotels. Another objectionable feature at this place is the "dead-heads," or summer boarders, who make a practice of following parties of tourists whenever they take the trail. This saves the expense of a guide, and, while it is an inconvenience to the tourists, it cannot be helped, as the road is public and interlopers cannot be prevented from the position. ORANGE, July 9.—[Correspondence ange, as well as the candidates nominated here yesterday, take exception to my report of the proceedings, as printed in today's Times, professing to believe that it is erroneous and mis leading in one particular, and in view of these allegations I have consented to make the following explanation: My report estimated the retiring delegates at two-thirds of the grind the acorns into meal by means of mortar and pestle, something like druggists mix compounds for the disorganization of the stomach of the paleface. In the meantime the buckshave built a fire surrounded by rocks, which are made a "white heat." The meal is poured in a water-light bearts. in the convention. According to my own view of the matter, I was justified in making the statement, however, from the fact that the revolt occurred before the report of the committee was received and adopted, which excluded

This removes the tannin, or bitter taste, and although a little sand adheres to the cake it does not seem to make much difference.

The butter used for this bread is also very primitive, and is perhaps the origin of the manufacture of our oleowith flies and other insects which make it thick with larve and pupes. The women and children—always the women and children—always the women and children—skim of this scum of living and dead insects, wash away the foam in fresh water, and thus they have good, fresh butter. Butter is also made of gnats and grasshoppers. The grasshoppers are caught, threaded on a string and filed away for future use until they become a little mellow, as in a green state they are considered too rich for the red man's blood. The grasshoppers are caught by forming a line of women and children. Sometimes, when an impromptu meal is wanted, the grass is set on fire, and the jumping grasshopper is not only caught but is cooked at the same time.

The first test was at the corner of Colorado street and Marengo avenue, and with 40 pounds of steam a stream of water from a 11-inch nozzle was thrown 140 feet high. The next test was made near the Raymond, and the engine satisfactorily met all of the requirements. The City Council expressed itself as satisfied, and will formally accept the engine at its next meeting. (signed)

There was a small-sized runaway at the corner of Colorado street and Raymond avenue this afternoon. An old gentleman was driving along the latter street when the horse became fright ened, and, jumping to one side, over-turned the buggy, throwing the driver to the ground. Bystanders interfered, and it was found that no serious dam-

NEW YORK, July 9.—Trading in the stock market today was only about half that of yesterday, though the most confident feeling, which became so noticeable last evening, continued throughout the day. evoning, continued throughout the day. The general drift of prices was upward, though the operations of bears and traders though the operations of bears and traders made a feverish and irregular market during most of the time. The first prices this morning were from ½ to ½ per cent. better than last night's close. The weakest point in the market was the trusts, and especially Sugar, which was sold on the expectation that the general term would confirm the opinion of Judge Barrett, and the stock at one time was about 3 per cent. lower than last evening. During most of the day the general list presented little or no feature, and the market finally closed dull but firm at something better than the opening figures.

Railroad Excursion

LOS ANGELES

SAN JUAN-BY-THE-SEA!

ON SUNDAY, JULY 14, 1889,
Over the California Central Railroad, for the benefit of disabled trainmen residing in Los Angeles.

Arrangements have been made with the people of San Juan for the accommodation and comfort of the excursionists.

A fine dancing pavilion has been put in order for the occasion.

Music will be furnished by a full string band, and all who desire to pass the time in dancing will have an excellent opportunity of doing so.

Lunchesskets will be in order, but those will be furnished by a full string band, and all who desire to pass the time in dancing will have an excellent opportunity of doing so.

Lunchesskets will be in order, but those wresh-dish dinner, as fish are caught in abundance at San Juan.

The train will ston 30 minutes at Capistrano to give the excursionists a chance to view the ancient mission at that place. The band will play at the mission during that time.

The committees are all experienced railroad men, and will assist the trainmen in helping the ledies on and off the train, and will also see that they are properly provided with seats before the train starts.

Trains, for the accommodation of East Los Angeles people, will leave Downey-avenue bridge at $10 a m. sharp; thence to First-street depot, and will leave there at $4.6 a, m. Returning, will leave San Juan at 5.30 p.m. Fast Los Angeles people will be returned to Downey avenue.

A brass band will accompany the excursion. Fare for round trip, $1 Tekets for sale at the office, in Phillips block, Downey avenue, F. MOLYNN, RADERS and DER BOXES.

Over 4300 acres have been sold since February, 1, 1883. The soil is a deep, rich, sandy loam, very easy to cultivate.

An inexhaustible supply of water. Apples, Peaches, Pears, Prunes, Figs, Plums, Cherries, Persimmons, Raisins and Table Grapes, Loquats, Quinces, Apricots, Olives, English Walnuts, Chestnuts and Peanuts, as well as Grain and Vegetables of all kinds, grow to the highest degree of perfection WITHOUT IRRIGATION. Mr. Milton Thomas and Mr. R. M. Town of this city, and Mr. Byron O. Clark of Pasadena, Cal., the well-known and experienced nurserymen, have purchased large tracts of these lands and planted them to orchards. They regard them as the very best lands in Los Angeles county for the cultivation of decidnous fruits, Olives and English Walnuts, and owing to their near proximity to Los Angeles City, the cheapest lands in Southern California at the price they are now offered. Purchasers can make arrangements at the office of this company to have their lands planted in truits and vines of their own selection, and cared for 1, 2 and 8 years at the actual cost. Apply to

Dr. E. T. Barber of Lancaster, Antelope Valley, Los Angeles county, Cal. offers 39,000 acres of land for sale, in tracts of 20 acres and upward, at 28 to 50 per acre, with liberal terms and title guaranteed.

This valiey has raised the premium wheat of the world; sugar beets at the rate of 213 tons to the acre; barley hay, three tons; eight crops of aifalfain one year; paranips seven inches in diameter, and is competent to compete with Spain for raisins, and France for champagne.

All this land offered can be covered with mountain water, and has good surface and arte-lan water, and much of it has a subsoil irrigation.

The railroad facilities are good; the Southern Pacific Railroad now crosses it, and three other great railroads are expected to do so in the near future.

FIRST FEDERAL APPORTIONMENT. When the convention of 1787 had decided upon a popular branch in the Federal Legislature, a select committee of five was appointed to apportion the members among the States. On July 10th this committee made a report, suggesting a House of 56 members, based on wealth and population com-bined, all future Houses to be fixed as to numbers by Congress upon the same basis. Fifty-six was deemed too small a number, and this point in the report was referred to a new committee, which recommended a House of 66 members, apportioned among the States as follows: Virginia 10, Massa-chusetts and Pennsylvania 8 each, New York and Maryland 6 each, Con-New York and Maryland 6 each, Con-necticut and the two Carolinas 5 each, New Jersey 4, Georgia and New Hamp-shire 3 each, and Delaware and Rhode Island 1 each. This was the appor-tionment for the first House of Repre-sentatives, which was finally adopted in the Constitution.

FIXING THE SEAT OF GOVERNMENT. Hamilton's Funding Bill and plan for the Federal assumption of the State debts encountered such the State debts encountered such violent hostility in Congress as to cause a fear that the agtation might lead to the dissolution of the Union. It was then strongly desired by Virginia and Maryland that the national capital should be located on the Potomac. The Federal city, it was anticipated, would grew rapidly, so that the neighboring States were eager to secure the advantages of its proximity. Robert Morris and other northern politicians thought a few votes could be had in Virginia and Maryland in favor of the Funding Bill, by the Northern States conceding the location of the capital on the Potomac, and accordingly a dianer-party was arranged to be held at Jefferson's house, at which Hamilton and a few others were present. A compromise was then effected to "save the Union." White and Lee, two Virginian Congressmen, were to vote for the Funding Bill, and as an anodyne for the excitement this action would cause, the friends of Hamiltou were to procure the passage of a bill for the location of the eapital on the Potomas cause, the friends of Hamiltou were to procure the passage of a bill for the location of the capital on the Potomac at the end of 10 years, pending which it was to be located at Philadelphia. The bill was quickly passed by the Senate, but, as only a few members had been let into the secret, it encountered sharp opposition in the House, but on July 10,-1790, it passed that body by the close vote of 32 to 29. By its terms the Government was to name commissioners to fix a location on the Potomac, erect buildings, which Congress was to occupy in December, 1800. Meanwhile the seat of government was to be at Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON'S PERIL.

WASHINGTON'S PERIL The retreat of Hunter late in June, 1864, left the road to Washington open to the Confederates, and accordingly Lee detached a considerable force under Early, which advanced up the Shenandoah at the rate of 20 miles a day, and crossing the Potomac, defeated a body of militia and volunteers under Lew Wallace at Monocacy, and on the evening of July 10, 1864, encamped within six miles of Washington, which was thrown into a panic on that account. Meanwhile the Sixth Corps, sent on from before Petersburg, and the Nineteenth Corps, just returned from the Gulf, reached the city. They were met at the wharf by President Lincoln, who had been waiting for them anxiously. The newly-arrived troops pushed out on the 12th, and the Confederates, as they saw the battle flags and the easy, to the Confederates, and accordingly saw the battle flags and the swinging gait of the veterans, cried out: "The Sixth Corps has come!" Early hastily retreated into Virginia, carrying with him 5000 horses and 2500 cattle.

NOTABLE BIRTHS AND DEATHS. July 10th is remarkable as the anniversary of the birth of the celebrated theologian, John Calvin, 1509; Sir william Blackstone, author of "Commentaries on the Common Law," 1728; Frederick Marryatt, the novelist, 1792; and of the death of the Roman Emperor Hadrian, 138; Pope Benedict VII., 983; Pope Benedict VII., 1024; Henry II. of France, 1559, and David Rittenhouse, American astronomer, 1796.

DEFEAT OF KING HENRY. It was on July 10, 1460, that King Henry VI. of England was totally de-feated and made prisoner at the batfeated and made prisoner at the battle of Northampton, where the army of the Duke of York was commanded by his son, Edward, Earl of March. Queen Margaret escaped to Scotland, and was enabled to carry on the war for several years longer, with partial success. Although the Duke of York was defeated and killed at the battle of Wakefield, his son Edward was proclaimed king as Edward IV., and Henry, after being liberated and recaptured, was finally murdered in prison in 1471.

HENRY II. OF FRANCE.

HENRY II. OF FRANCE, who took Calais from the English, died July 10, 1359, in consequence of a wound in the eye received in knightly "breaking of a lance" with one of his courtiers, who endeavored to avoid the encounter, but in vain.

As is well known, Oxygen is the lifegiving principle in the air we breathe, and Ozone in the air imparts that happy and buoyant feeling after thunder storms. Persons often require more oxygen than is in the air around them, and cause doors and windows to be opened, tear off collars, loosen the waist, and call for a fan to displace the stifling and bring fresher air or more exygen. Traveling is done mainly to resorts where the air contains done mainly to resorts where the air contains from the earth.

Oxygen and Ozone are gases, and must be stored up and used by inhaling them. Our apparatus for storing and having these gases compounded with other suitable agents is perfect, and though they are not a cure-all, yet they are undoubtedly the greatest invention made in the last twenty years in any department of medicine, and the results are truly wonderful.
